Project

Field(s) Theatre

Description The goal of the ‘Make a Move’ project is to create a sustainable transnational co-creation and capacity building structure for European cultural operators active in the field of movement-based theatre, in the process raising the visibility of non-institutionalized theatre practices and celebrating of the role of ‘Theatre du geste’ in the European non-tangible cultural heritage.

The ‘Make a Move’ project will develop and pilot an innovative incubating environment (co-creation laboratory) in which 5 - 10 theatre companies from 5 different Creative Europe program countries will grow all aspects of their creative proposals from the stage of creative ideas to up to the the stage of a full international production, in the process showing work in progress to a variety of target audiences across different European host cities.

In the process, the project will create capacity building tools and practices that will constitute a blueprint for a sustainable and mobile theatre incubator and raise awareness about the societal and artistic significance of non-institutionalised theatre practices.

The 'Make a Move' project has been developed with the support of Rijeka – The European Capital of Culture 2020.
